The Juke-Box Argument Problem of a Machine Age

You recall our recent discussion of the action of James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, in forbidding his members to make recordings for radio stations and for phonographs used in public places—commonly known as juke-boxes. Now the magazine Billboard, organ of the entertainment world, joins in the debate.

Americans Raid Canton, Destroy 10 Enemy Planes

—War in Pacific

Chungking, Aug. 7 —(P)—United States Army bombers attacked a Japanese airfield near Canton yesterday, destroying at least 10 grounded enemy planes. Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

"The Japanese were taken completely by surprise," a head-quarters communiqué said.

Besides the destruction of grounded Japanese planes, the bombers scored hits on the air-drome runway, it said.

All of the American planes, including bombers and fighter escort, returned safely to their bases.

"A Chinese Army communiqué reported a fresh Japanese land thrust in coastal Chekiang province was being held in check in the vicinity of Sungyang, while the battle for Linchuan in adjoining Kiangsi province was continuing."

The Japanese received reinforcements and attacked Chinese positions at Linchuan's western and southern gates the night of Aug. 4, but finally were repelled after suffering 500 casualties, the communiqué said. The fight was so hot that Wutong, a southern suburb, changed hands six times.

Japanese forces trying to rescue remnants from Hsian, 12 miles southeast of Linchuan, have been beaten back, the communiqué added.

In northern Anhwei province it said more than 1,000 Japanese troops with artillery attacked Chinese positions north of Kwangyao July 30. Fighting still is in progress.

In Hupeh province, the communiqué said, several hundred Japanese were killed July 27 when a Chinese land mine wrecker, a Japanese munitions train en route from Hankow to Ilwayuan,

FDR Studying Saboteur Case

Washington, Aug. 7 —(P)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he had not yet finished his review of testimony in the case of eight alleged Nazi saboteurs and added that he did not know whether he would finish today.

The president had no amplification of that brief statement.

Shortly before the press conference, the White House said that "the president has not yet concluded his reading of the testimony" in the saboteur case.

This statement was read to reporters by William D. Hassett, an assistant secretary, in response to inquiries about reports that Mr. Roosevelt had de creed death for six clemency for two Nazi agents tried by a military tribunal on charges that they came to this country to sabotage vital war activities.

Mr. Roosevelt had disclosed Tuesday that he expected to spend at least two or three days reviewing the evidence and findings of the military trial commission. He is the sole reviewing authority who will pass on the commission's sentence.

White House officials declined to amplify his brief statement by Hassett, which said:

"The president has not yet concluded his reading of the testimony in the saboteur case."

There remained a possibility that Mr. Roosevelt himself might discuss the case a bit more fully at a press conference later today (10:30 a.m., Eastern War Time.)

Allied Leaders in Moscow for Conferences

By E. C. DANIEL

London, Aug. 7 —(P)—Representatives of major United Nations were reported assembling in Moscow today for a "save Russia and win the war" conference, the urgency of which was accentuated by the increasingly desperate plight of the southern Soviet armies.

This information came from sources whose identity could not be disclosed. The British themselves maintained dead silence on the movements of their own leaders except for their ambassador to Russia, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, who has gone from Kultubayev to Moscow along with the United States ambassador, Admiral William H. Standley.

Dispatches from Moscow said conferences were proceeding today between Admiral Standley, Maj. Gen. Follett Bradley of the U. S. Air Force, and Soviet officials.

Moscow communiqué announced that Bradley, who arrived in Moscow by bomber three days ago, came for "A Discussion with the appropriate Soviet authorities of practical questions connected with the supply of arms and war materials to the U.S.S.R. from the United States."

The Moscow dispatches indicated that Bradley had not yet seen Premier Stalin for whom he brought a letter from President Roosevelt.

As reports streamed into London from both Axis and Allied sources indicating that the east was being assembled for grand strategy talks of the utmost importance in the Soviet capital, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard couched these black-faced banner lines:

"Allied diplomats reported gathering in Russia."

"Germans speed up oil field drive."

In the same edition, cartoonist David Low pictured the hope and belief of many Britons with a cartoon showing Premier Joseph Stalin, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek seated side by side in a truck with four steering wheels.

The truck was labeled "correlation of strategy" and the caption said: "Now supposing we all try to go somewhere together."

(For the past week the Axis radios have been circulating "unconfirmed rumors" that Prime Minister Churchill was in Moscow along with William C. Bullitt, a special envoy of President Roosevelt.)

Already known to be in Moscow besides Clark Kerr and Standley, are Maj. Gen. Follett Bradley, of the U. S. Air Forces; Roger Garaeau, head of the Fighting French mission to Russia; and Maj. Gen. William Steffens, Norwegian military Attaché at Kultubayev.

The Moscow consultations were interpreted in London as an effort to give fuller recognition to the indispensable part being played by the weary but unbeaten Soviet legions in the worldwide strategy of the United Nations.

There was little doubt in London that wherever and whenever Allied

Polio Outbreak Due to Decline

Little Rock, Aug. 7 —(P)—Arkansas' mild infantile paralysis epidemic should begin tapering off in about a week, Dr. John Lavan, special representative of the national foundation for infantile paralysis, said today.

He made this observation after a tour of north and east Arkansas areas most affected by the polio outbreak.

Although the infantile outbreak is only a mild one, parents should consult physicians at the first indication of "below par" condition of children, Dr. Lavan advised here today.

Dr. Lavan, a naval commander on a week's leave to investigate Arkansas' paralysis situation at the request of health officer W. B. Grayson, will leave this afternoon. He has consulted health officials in Searcy, Augusta, Wynne and Forrest City.

Dr. Lavan said he found indications some Arkansas parents had not called physicians until their children developed obvious symptoms of paralysis. He urged, however, that "headaches and complaints of sore or stiff necks not be passed off lightly."

Before entering naval service, Dr. Lavan was epidemiologist for Michigan health department, and was Toledo, Ohio, health officer.

Emergency Pipeline Qualifies in State

Little Rock, Aug. 7 —(P)—The War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., a non-profit organization formed by 11 major oil companies to supervise construction of the Longview, Tex.-Salem, Ill., oil pipeline for the government, qualified at the secretary of state's office today to do business in Arkansas.

Brady Cole, associate general counsel for the organization, said each of the oil companies posted $1,000 bonds in a Philadelphia, Pa., bank as evidence of good faith.

The project, financed by a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, transverses Arkansas.

Stock Market Chief Testifies — Washington

Washington, Aug. 7 —(P)—Emil Schram, president of the New York stock exchange, testified today he did not believe the government could rely beyond this year on voluntary bond purchases for war financing.

Appearing before the Senate Finance Committee on the new tax bill, the balsamic financier made this statement when asked by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) if he believed it would be "safe" for the government to rely on a system of financing which involved the voluntary general purchases of $12,000,000,000 in bonds yearly, with commercial banks taking about $30,000,000,000 additional.

"Perhaps you can finance this operation by voluntary purchases for this year," Schram replied, "but I can't see how it can be done until the end of the war."

Vandenberg said he thought the sale of $30,000,000,000 in bonds to banks would have an inflationary effect, greatly increasing the earnings of some of them.

The juice-box, offering music in a mechanical form, has simply expanded the market for music in a certain shape and manner without affecting one way or the other the vast majority of the jobs held by professional musicians... and, in fact, greatly increasing the earnings of some of them.

Interest to me as a student of the machine age are Billboard's figures on the size of this juke-box industry which has sprung up in the last few years. Billboard says:

"There are 400,000 juke-boxes in the nation."

They are managed by 7,000 owners-operators.

They are kept in repair by 13,000 service and route men.

There are 250 distributing firms employing hundreds of people.

And an additional 4,500 persons were employed by the five manufacturers of juke-boxes before the war emergency caused the production of new boxes to be prohibited.

So the claim of an imaginary 8,000 musicians' jobs is heavily discounted by the facts of this machine age.

We used to hear the same sort of argument about Detroit. It was claimed that new tooling machines produced more automobiles with fewer men in the factories. But the production of more and better automobiles at a cheaper price greatly increased the buying of cars—and thereby enormously increased the number of garage and service-station workers throughout America.

All-India Party Appeals to FDR, Other Leaders

By PRESTON GROVER
Bombay, Aug. 7 —(P)—The working committee of the All-India Congress party voted today to appeal to President Roosevelt, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador to Britain, to support its demands that Great Britain grant India immediate independence.

Maulana Abdul Kazan Azad, president of the Congress, was authorized to dispatch the appeals as soon as the Congress committee passes upon a resolution calling for a mass campaign of passive resistance to continue British rule.

Endorsement of the resolution, backed by Mohandas K. Gandhi, was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Azad opened the meeting with a speech calling for immediate Indian independence but saying the committee did not want British American armies to leave India.

Gandhi, who followed him and received an ovation, told the committee he did not want the Japanese in India because that would mean the end of China and perhaps Russia.

Gandhi himself sent a message to the Chinese today to "let China know that this struggle is as much for her defense as it is for India's liberation."

He declared that India's "ability to give effective assistance" is dependent on her freedom.

Meanwhile, having heard that Azad had said Congress leaders were even willing to let the Moslem League take over the running of India if the British would get out, Jimmash, a spokesman for the second-largest of India's complex religious and political groups, said the Congress leaders "mean to play on the credulity of the Moslems and attempt to divide them. They simply are trying to put the English into a corner."

As the 300 militant Congress committee members assembled under a canvas tent to throw in motion what may be their grimdest bid for independence, it appeared unlikely that action on the resolution would come before tomorrow, as extensive speech-making and presentation of amendments are anticipated.

They had the scrawny little leader's own word again last night, on the eve of the conference, that the time for non-violent action is now and that time would show what strength the Congress could marshal from his masses of disciples.

There was not the slightest hint from Gandhi's headquarters of any wavering. His latest statement seemed merely to reiterate that Britain must yield now—not, as she has proposed, wait to grant independence after the war—or see the Congress party act.

Neither was there any doubt that the committee would adopt the resolution sent to it from the party's smaller working committee calling for a vast movement under Gandhi's generalship unless independence were granted. Only Gandhi can interfere, and unless some unforeseen hitch arises over this weekend to change his mind abruptly, the stamp of approval was taken as a certainty.

All that Bombay was asking was: When would mass disobedience begin? How widespread would it be? What forms would it take? Boycott Highway stoppages? The shunning of dealings with foreigners? Even a general strike?

And Gandhi gave the word simply that a general strike was "not outside my contemplation."

His statement was issued last night in the form of written answers to questions from American correspondents.

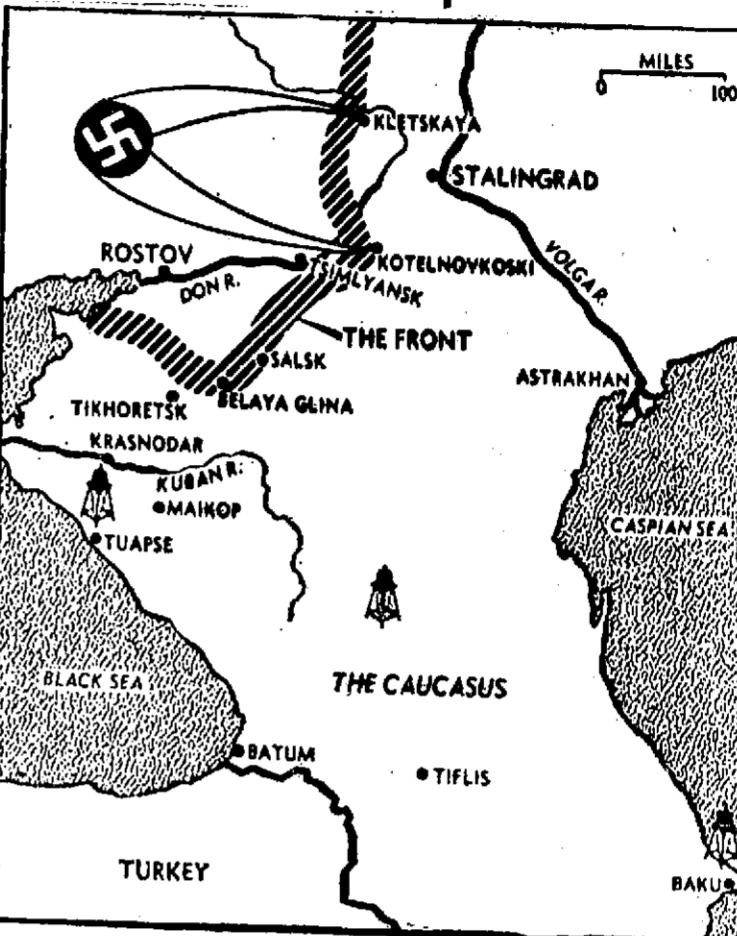

Before he began a mass movement, he said, he would write to the British viceroy "pleading for avoiding conflict" and that a basis for negotiations might be found in a favorable response.

Harrison first sought Adkins' support for himself for the Senate, found the governor had promised to support Congressman David D. Terry, learned early this summer Adkins' followers were backing Holt, tried to dissuade Adkins from pursuing such a course and in a final move, after the preferential primary, brought Adkins and McClellan together in a conference that failed of its objective.

Terry and Congressman Clyde T. Ellis were eliminated in the preferential primary and have endorsed McClellan.

Britain Cannot Withdraw Rule Over Divided India

Such Move May Mean Disaster to India, Allies

By DWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
As one reads Queen Wilhelmina's undorned but inspiring address to Congress, and its renewed promise of a free and better world under the Atlantic charter, there comes the feeling that perhaps the course of history would have been changed if her majesty could have delivered this speech before the All-India Congress committee now meeting in Bombay to consider ways and means of enforcing its demands for absolute freedom from Britain.

The Congress committee is struggling with the greatest political problem that any people can face — their independence. There are few measures, no matter how extreme, which world sentiment would deny to any race to achieve its sovereignty, but in the present instance we have a unique situation in which rash action by the committee might jeopardize the whole Allied cause.

A rash move by the committee might not only wreck Indian chances of achieving independence but bring the entire Allied world under the bondage of the Axis. This is no exaggeration, for India is a vital strategic base for our cause.

Under those circumstances Mahandas Gandhi, the great Nationalist leader, and the committee might find inspiration for a new line of endeavor in the promises reaffirmed by Holland's beloved queen. They might find what they seek in the pledge of the Atlantic charter that it respects the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live. They might recall that only a few days ago Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared:

"We have always believed — and we believe today — that all the peoples, without distinction of race, color, or religion, who are prepared and willing to accept the responsibilities of liberty, are entitled to its enjoyment."

In short, Mr. Gandhi and his followers might reach the conclusion that it would be better to trust the British promise of independence after the war than to precipitate a situation fraught with danger for the entire Allied world.

"But," the Nationalists demand, why put the whole burden of concession on us? Why shouldn't Britain grant our independence immediately rather than make us wait?"

That's a legitimate query and it is the crux of the whole position. Why shouldn't the British government be the one to give ground?

Well, the answer is that no matter how the British government feels, it is helpless to make the sweeping change the Nationalists demand without precipitating even a worse situation in India. Personally I feel very sure of this, having studied Hindustan's problems for twenty-five years, and discussed them in India with the leaders of all sections.

There's nothing more certain than that if Britain suddenly should withdraw entirely from government, and, without thoroughly preparing the ground, turn the rule over to a provisional government, it would create a chaos which would be as bad or worse than anything that can grow out of the Nationalist program of civil disobedience. The 660 native rulers would be at sixes and sevens; the great Moslem minority would defy the efforts of the Congress party to establish a government; and there would be other complications.

Therefore, with all sympathy for any people seeking liberty, and without holding a brief for Britain, we can say that England is powerless to grant the Nationalist demands at this juncture. As a matter of fact, it strikes me that the other Allies might refuse to countenance any such move, or even a transfer of power to India over to the Axis.

As things now stand, unless some compromise can be effected in the imbroglio, the future of India is dark and there is a corresponding threat to all the Allied Nations, big and small.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Aug. 7 — (P) — Bullish forces had a shade the best of the debate in today's stock market as selected issues ignored another cloudy news budget and registered recoveries of fractions to around a point.

The principal fly in the rallying ointment was the lack of any real activity. The ticker tape loafed from the start and, while some cases in the closing hour, an assault was well maintained in most of small declines was in evidence.

Transfers for the full proceedings approximated 200,000 shares, one of the lowest 5-hour turnovers in two years.

which landed in one area were reported set afire or wrecked and the sky troops accounted for the last man. Front-line dispatches said new showers of parachutes were being exterminated or rounded up almost as fast as they landed.

While Soviet accounts indicated that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's defenses were hardening, the German radio reported that Nazi spearheads had reached Kurskavka on the Rostov-Baku railway, 250 miles southeast of Rostov, nearly one-third of the distance to the great Baku oil fields in the far southeastern Caucasus.

In the flaming "battle of the bend," a Russian communiqué said counter-attacking Red troops had gained an "advantageous defense line" and eased the threat of a German pincer thrust against Stalingrad.

In the western air war, a strong force of RAF bombers pounded the big Ruhr valley industrial center of Duisburg and Nazi airfields in the low countries, while German night raiders, DNRA said, attacked the English and Scottish universities cities of Cambridge and Edinburgh.

An English coastal resort, crowded with vacationers, also was attacked by a low-flying German plane which sprayed the streets with machinegun fire, wounding several persons.

The RAF's foray against Duisburg, the site of many important war factories, was the third straight night assault upon the Ruhr, and a London spokesman said it would have been considered a "whopper" in the days before Britain started her 1,000-plane attacks to scourge the Reich city by city.

F. S. A. Medical Co-Op Plan

Officials of the Nevada County Medical Society may take whatever action they wish on a proposed Farm Security Administration group medical care program. The Council of the Arkansas Medical Society states:

In leaving action up to the county society, the state council said it neither "approved or disapproved" of the plan.

The program would provide medical services to families on an average cost of $10.85 to each family. The total cost of medical assistance per family is estimated at $54, and the FSA would pay the difference through grants.

The action of the state council would permit such action on a year basis as an experiment. Approximately 1,100 families in the county have applied for membership in the program.

Red Cross Production Room Opened

The local Red Cross has organized a surgical dressing unit with production rooms in the Presbyterian church. The room will be open Tuesday through Friday of each week and work will be started as soon as the first quota is received.

Last week Mrs. E. Glenn, who is chairman of the surgical dressing unit, and Mrs. Jake Underwood, co-chairman, attended a regional institute for chapter instructors at Hope, and held a local school for Instructors on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Those attending the school were: Mrs. N.

LUCKY PENNY

By GLORIA KAYE

CHAPTER I
FLAMING skies were no novelty to Penny Kirk. She had seen London's inferno of bursting bombs. She had raced against death in blazing France.

Now Penny drove leisurely along a road canopied by heavens of red—but this was different. The glare in the skies was friendly, comforting, reflecting the glowing furnaces of the Kirk mills—her co-hostesses.

Games pertaining to the theme were played throughout the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Bryon Mitchell, Mrs. James Hamill and Miss Frances Bruner.

Decorations were carried out in the "Pink and Blue" color scheme.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to 41 guests.

Coming and Going

Col Charles Garret who is stationed at Washington, D. C., arrived Wednesday for short visit with his mother, Mrs. Garrett. He left Thursday night for San Francisco.

Mrs. Joseph R. Heard and daughter, the Misses Alice Lorraine and Daisy Dorothy, departed today for Waco to be guests of Mr. Heard.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrel and daughter, Frances, have returned from a visit to Helena, Arkansas and Oklahoma City.

Vacation School at Methodist Church

The Annual Vacation Church School for children of the Methodist church will open Monday morning, August 10, at 9 o'clock at the church.

The school will be conducted for children of the Primary and Junior Departments only. These age groups will meet in their regular department rooms, and all children of the city between the ages of 6 and 13 are cordially invited to attend.

QUALIFICATIONS Are The ONLY ISSUE

Results of the first primary showed that voters had carefully appraised the qualifications of the candidates and will elect Charles Mehaffy. On August 11, voters will show even more decisively that Mehaffy is their choice.

To The Voters of Arkansas . . .

The only issues in this race are the integrity, training, experience and temperament of the candidates.

It is right that the voters carefully appraise the candidates and compare their qualifications. No privilege guaranteed under the constitution is more sacred than the assurance that the Supreme Court be composed of Justices who are learned in the law, who are guided by an abiding sense of honorable justice, and whose training and experience will enable them to courageously apply the law to the facts in every case. Charles Mehaffy meets these requirements.

Qualified By Experience

- Born in Saline County, Arkansas, 48 years ago.
- Attended Henderson-Brown College, Arkadelphia, and Law School of the University of Michigan.
- In 1917, enlisted as private in the U. S. army.
- Has actively engaged in the practice of law for the past 25 years.
- Has practiced in all State and Federal Courts, including the United States Supreme Court.

Sox, Senators Come to Life, Start Winning

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

With practically no fans two of the American League clubs suffering from sleeping sickness as the result of staying too near the contagious cellar zone suddenly have shown unexpected signs of life.

The Chicago White Sox have won half a dozen games in succession in recent days and the Washington Senators have won seven out of nine in the last couple of weeks for what amounts to a sizzling spurt.

Last night, led by the irrepressible Bob Newson, they set down the New York Yankees 6-3 in a free-living affair in which Washington made 14 blows and the Yanks 11. In addition the usually flawless Yanks contributed a couple of errors to rookie Hank Borowy's second defeat of the season. Everyone of the Senators, including Newson, participated in Washington's attack. It was Newson's ninth win against 14 defeats.

The White Sox whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-1 with Edgar Smith pitching six hit ball and losing a bustout because Jim Bloodworth belted a home run in the eighth inning.

No more convincing evidence that Chicago's hitless wonders are soaring could be mentioned than to point out that even Smith, the unlucky southpaw who has lost 17 times, now has been able to gain his third victory.

The Sox bunched four of their nine hits and an error in the first inning for all of their runs.

In the only other American League game the Boston game the Boston Red Sox scored their second straight shutout as Bill Butler, ordinarily used for relief chores, pitched four-hit ball to beat the Philadelphia Athletics 2-0.

Cleveland's doubleheader at St. Louis was postponed.

Only one game was scheduled in the National League and in this the New York Giants released all the pent-up fury of their last three days to overwhelm the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-0 with five home runs and a steady seven-hit pitching performance by Prince Hal Schumacher.

Mel Ott hit two of New York's circuit blows, bringing his total for the season to 18, and Bill Werber, Mickey Witek and Buster Maynard accounted for the others.

Stoltz Handles Wright Rough

New York, Aug. 7—(AP)—It is still a matter for argument, but the Jacobs' beachcombers were pretty much convinced today that there'll be a couple of new bosses ruling the featherweights and lightweights as a result of the cuffing around Allie Stoltz bashed Chalky Wright in the latest neighborhood beat-busting.

Stoltz, a curly-haired Newarker loaded with what the beachcombers point out as "class," cuffed the current featherweight champion—New York state version—all over Madison Square Garden's ring for the last five rounds of their fight last night—and won the 10-round decision.

Allie impressed even the oldest inhabitants that the next time he tangles with lightweight champ Sammy Angott, probably around October 2, he'll likely wind up taking the 135-pound crown away from stolid Samuel. The last time Sammy came out with a disputed, split decision.

At the same time, the ageless Chalky was given such a going over that the old-timers figured he had too much taken out of him to recover in time to withstand the challenge of young Charlie Costantino, a rapid-transit tussler from the lower east side.

They get together September 25, and the Los Angeles Negro's half of the featherweight championship will be on the line that night.

DON'T STRETCH—
BUT THEY BOUNCE
Phoenix, Ariz.—(AP)—Sheriff Lon Jordan has his own stand on the rubber situation.

In the weekly bulletin issued by his office appeared this memo:

"Solve the rubber problem. If each department will gather all those rubber checks now on hand, it will help a lot."

Sports Roundup

New York, Aug. 7—Henry Armstrong's "comeback," as everyone figured, was dictated by lack of dough, but did you know just how broke Henry it? Well, the other day he sold a $50,000 annuity, on which he had paid $16,000, for only $14,000. Trip from the west coast is California to win the conference grid title if the season is played out of schedule.

Today's Guest Star
Jim Reed, Burlington Town Hawk-Eye Gazette: "Many college football players hesitate to enlist in the services because of the salary cut. In the Army they get only $52 in addition to room and board."

A local hotel manager reports World Series reservations now are heavier than they were Sept. 20 last year. Byron Nelson, the No. 1 pro golfer, will play right field for Fred Haney's Toledo Mud Hens in an exhibition against the Browns next Friday. Those who have seen Lord Byron play ball say he'll be back in his pro shop Saturday morning. Bob Pastor, who turned down a lot of good fights Manager Jimmy Johnston had lined up because he wanted to play golf, came back to town the other day and started training—without letting Jimmy know.

Hartman, Kraft Tee Off Today

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 7—(AP)—Jack Hartman, a former Colorado junior champion and runnerup at the Denver Park Hill tournament this year, faces John Kraft in a quarterfinal match in the Broadmoor invitational golf meet today.

Kraft, the defending champion, had plenty of trouble yesterday in the person of Walter Emery, journey medalist from Tulsa, Okla. The two battled for four extra holes, with Kraft playing capricious golf but finally winning on the 22nd green with a par 4.

Both Kraft and Hartman are from Denver.

Hartman defeated Charles Daniels of Houston, Texas, 5 and 4, to gain the quarterfinals.

Other matches today pair up: Boston Smith, Oklahoma City, and Roger Hurd, Stanford university; Cylian Briggs, Frederick, Okla., and Don Bell, Denver; Larry MacArthur, Greeley, Colo., and Leo Jack, Enid, Okla.

Travelers' Start Last Month With Six Game Lead

By The Associated Press

Little Rock started down the last month's stretch of the Southern Association's pennant chase today with a handsome lead while Nashville, New Orleans, Atlanta and Memphis were scrapping among themselves on the lower deck.

Whipping everything in sight late, the Travas topped their lead over second-place Nashville to six games last night by nipping Chattanooga 6-3, for a clean sweep of a four-game series.

The Travelers hit on all four in the Chattanooga series, getting superb pitching, hitting in the clutches and playing bang-up defensively. Pitchers went the route in all four games, allowed the Lookouts a total of four runs and 10 hits. The Travelers got only one hit in a seven-inning game Wednesday night, but won it 1-0. Tuesday night they got two safeties and again won 1-0.

Atlanta ended up in a fourth place tie with Memphis by splitting a pair with the Chickas, coping the nightcap 11-6 after losing the opener 1-0. Birmingham turned 19 hits into a 12-3 rout of the last place Knoxville Smokies.

Frank Papish was the Little Rock moundsman to take Chattanooga in tow in the clubs' final series of the season. He dashed out seven hits and fanned nine, while his teammates were icing the game in the first inning with three singles, a double and a triple that counted four runs.

Says American Planes Best

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—A gunner on a plane which hit the ground but bounced back into the air during the first American bombing attack on the Nazi-held Netherlands reported today that "it was a rough trip," but the American equipment was "the best in the world."

Technical Sergeant Robert L. Golay, 22, of Fredericks, Kas., wearing the ribbon of the Distinguished Flying Cross which he won for his part in the exploit, told about the July 4 raid at a press conference held by Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson, of the War Department.

The plane ran into very heavy anti-aircraft fire when it attacked its objective, a German airbase at Detkooy, Golay said.

Examination disclosed that one propeller had been shot away, and the engine set afire, the right wing badly battered and the tail riddled with bullets. Where the plane struck the ground, momentarily out of control, there was a large hole in the fuselage.

As to the worth of American flying equipment, Golay told reporters that damned few planes in the world could take what that American-made plane did.

U. S. Plane Bombs Jap-Held Wake Island

Headquarters, Hawaiian Air Force, Aug. 7—(AP)—An American Flying Fortress on a mission to Japanese-held Wake Island destroyed four of six Japanese planes which rose to attack it and returned to its base with three bullet holes at the only damage.

A fifth enemy plane probably was destroyed and the sixth, which followed the fortress to a point 150 miles from Wake, was given only a 50-50 chance to make its way back to its base because of the prevailing bad weather.

"We just disintegrated the Jap planes," said Major George Globor, of San Angelo, Tex. "It takes only a few of our .50 caliber shells to disintegrate them."

The worst of all accidents is the type caused by lack of altitude, and there's nothing you can do for such an accident. This is Col. Dixon's consideration of an extra thousand feet of altitude more worthwhile than money in the bank. You've got no right to give yourself less than 1,000 feet leeway, and you should take two thousand if you're within a hundred miles of a peak."

Child Falls From Boat, Drowns in River

Newport, Aug. 7—(AP)—Charles McLain Davidson, 8, drowned in the White river near here late yesterday when he fell from a motor boat in which he and three other children were riding.

Charles Goff, 14, also in the boat, unsuccessfully attempted to rescue the Davidson boy.

The boy's body had not been found this morning although the search continued through a wind and electric storm last night.

This was the third drowning in the Newport vicinity this year.

KIDDIES OPERATE HOTEL

Someplace in Cornwall—(AP)—Evasive children, all of them under 15, are running the hotel here. They call it Total War Seacrest hotel and head of the staff is 14-year-old Connie Grunt.

two weeks before — had won over seven competitors.

And that was a strange word for her to receive — strange when you consider that Vera Zorina, of ballet and musical comedy, has never done a reel of serious dramatic work. Little Britta Hartwig of the light blue eyes, the classic features, and the twinkling toes has come a long way. But let her tell us why:

"When I first read the book I was terribly interested in Maria. I read it again and I wanted to play her. It was a role I felt so sincerely. I came to Paramount to make 'Louisiana Purchase' and saw that they were testing others for it. I asked Mr. (B. G.) DeSylva for a chance at it. Then one day Mr. DeSylva said that Sam Wood, the director, wanted me to test. I thought he was joking, and I thought I could not bear making a joke of it. But he really wanted the test, and I made it. After that, I would see other actresses in Maria costumes — wearing close-cropped wigs — and I knew they were testing and I would turn green in the gills.

"I felt so terribly sincere about it. I knew I could do it, and that was all. Then I left on tour and heard nothing more for eight months when they sent for me for another test — with Gary Cooper.

"I was frightened — I'm really very shy — but I knew I had to do it right. When you are reading a role wrong, you hear yourself talk. When it is right, you lose yourself, you slip away somewhere. I had hopes it was right, because I lost myself."

It seems it was very right, for Zorina, the dancer, now has the most publicized feminine role since Scarlett O'Hara — and a new costume.

Eleanor Powell, Red Skelton to Be Featured at Saenger Sunday

Tommy Dorsey's Band Gets Hot in 'Ship Ahoy'

Eleanor Powell keeps up the pace of her imitable tap dancing with unique new routines in "Ship Ahoy," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical which opens Sunday at the Saenger theatre.

The charming Miss Powell, who has been called the world's greatest feminine tap dancer by the Dancing Masters of America, does not carry the burden alone. Red Skelton is there pitching laughs and Tommy Dorsey's top-flight band provides scintillating melody.

It was smooth sailing for "Ship Ahoy" with the audience. One fan after another came up on deck with mirth or music in constant succession. The plot is consistently exciting, but it also manages to keep pitching around in gates of laughter.

Virginia O'Brien proves herself a comedienne of rare ability, as well as a singer of ear-tickling tunes. Bert Lahr, veteran of the Broadway stage, clowns forth and offers a comedy song, "I'll Take Tallulah," which pleases the customers no end. Miss O'Brien sings in the hilarious deadpan style which made her famous.

Skelton, as a woof of Miss Powell, was never better, even surpassing his initial screen triumph in "Whistling in the Dark," which lifted him to stardom.

Miss Powell's dancing, always a spectacular feature of any picture in which she appears, establishes a record with five novelty dances, all directed by Bobby Connally. A chorus of twenty-seven Hollywood beauties lends charm to the numbers.

One of the most remarkable numbers executed by Miss Powell is a literal Morse code dance in which she actually taps out an important message. There are also a La Torria specialty, in imitation of a bull fighter; a soft shoe dance and a tap in competition, or in harmony, with Buddy Rich, the crack drummer of Dorsey's orchestra. The competent direction was by Eddie Buzzell.

State Agency for War Plants

Little Rock, Aug. 7—(P)—The State Agricultural and Industrial Commission sought today to have the Smaller War Plants Corporation adopt as its own the state agency's recently completed survey of Arkansas industries.

H. K. Thatcher, commission director with offices in Washington, said such an adoption would enable the SWPC to immediately certify certain Arkansas plants for war contracts. He explained that under the law the corporation, a branch of WPB, must survey industries before certification.

Thatcher explained, as an example, that Arkansas had small chance of obtaining a large aluminum rolling mill but existing plants might be able to process some of the aluminum produced at the Lake Catherine aluminum plant.

He said cotton compresses, machine shops and garages could be converted with a minimum amount of tooling into aluminum products factories.

He asserted efforts for industrial expansion in the state would be concentrated now to development of small plants as feeder-mills for larger war industries.

He submitted a detailed report of the Washington office's activities since it was established in June, 1940. The report showed industrial surveys had been made of 100 communities, 193 separate project surveys completed, 50 projects awarded Arkansas, not including three dams, 10 defense housing projects and three pipelines.

QUISLING AIDE IS SNORED OUT

London — (AP) — Forced to listen to pro-Axis propaganda by a Quisling aide, Norwegians in a Quisling storm troops tramped out the speech with snores.

They were enjoying a movie, dispatches from Stockholm said, when Quisling storm troops tramped into the cinema and barred the doors. The Quisling leader immediately opened his speech.

Audience simply settled back and began snoring. Unable to make himself heard, the Quisling gave up.

Traitor to Die for Treachery

Detroit, Aug. 7—(AP)—Squat Max Stephan began today in closely guarded confinement the 68 days of life that remain to him before he must go to the gallows for treachery to America in time of war.

Guards of the federal prison at Milan, from which Stephan was brought yesterday to hear his death sentence, resumed their 24-hour watch over the man for whom time is running out because a court of his adopted government found him faithless — guilty of treason.

That was the only word from the prison. True to a custom of years standing during which little has ever been said of inmates at Milan, officials of the institution gave out no advices about Stephan.

A deputy federal marshal, however, said that Stephan still boasted that he would not hang.

"I'll bet all the tea in China I won't hang," deputy John W. Ingram quoted the prisoner as saying on his way back to Milan.

Stephan's was the first treason conviction in a federal court since the "whiskey rebellion" in 1794, when western Pennsylvania insurrectionists fought federally imposed liquor taxes.

John Brown, the violent abolitionist, was convicted and hanged for his treasonous raid on the Harpers Ferry, Va., federal arsenal before the Civil war, but he was tried by a Virginia state court.

U. S. Corn Crop Near a Record

By FRANKLIN MULLIN P.

Chicago, Aug. 7—(P)—Rich green leaves, long waving tassels and heavy silken shoots averaging two to the stalk in many fields today promised another record, or near record, yield of corn as the nation's vital war crop progressed through the ear forming stage.

High yielding Hybrid seed, introduced on a large scale to American farmers only a few years ago, accounts for a greater proportion of the acreage than ever before, grain experts here reported.

This means, they said, that the crop, progressing so far under about as favorable conditions as are experienced in best seasons, has an excellent chance to equal or better last year's near record yield. In some sections of the belt, such as Iowa, the nation's biggest corn producer, the yield may exceed that of 1941.

According to latest analysis the crop's condition for the nation as a hole is only slightly below that of a year ago, when the national yield turned out to be 31 bushels per acre, best in several years and comparing with an average of only 23.5 bushels in 1930-39. On July 1 the official estimate of yield was 29.4 bushels, compared with 29.7 on the same date last season.

Crop experts pointed out that should improvement occur between now and harvest as it did last year, a crop of more than 2,700,000,000 bushels is likely, compared with 2,672,000,000 last year. This would be the largest crop since 1925, with the exception of the 2,931,000,000 harvested of 1932.

Corn, chief food of livestock, must be raised in vast quantities this year to meet wartime demand. Even though a big crop is in sight, experts said feeding and industrial requirements may exceed the harvest, thus necessitating further drawing upon carry-over surpluses.

Cuties Keep in Good Shape

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — One thing's sure, it's going to be no trouble for the movie cuties to keep those shapes that art and nature gave them. No trouble at all, while the bombs fall in the movies.

Today I saw Carole Landis, whose ends were nicely shaped by destiny, go through the equivalent of 10 rounds of calisthenics, just dodging bombs.

It was for "Manila Calling." By day's end, if Miss Landis wasn't calling for a masseuse then she's a husky as well as beautiful gal. Mid the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in the back room, our Carole played a game of hide-and-seek under the table. Down she went, up she came, until I bet she got the bends.

All this was by way of assisting an actor named Martin Kosleck to make amends for his unsavory movie past. Kosleck's the young refugee chap, who has been playing all those Nazi sneaks and dogs, leering at innocent women and kicking babies. Not any more. In "Manila Calling" Martin plays a Polish refugee in the Philippines, a fellow who fights for Uncle Sam and dies a hero's death when the Japs invade.

The Japs, right today, were making it hot for hero Lloyd Nolan, hero Kosleck, and heroine Landis. The three of them were in a radio broadcasting shack, Kosleck at the control board while Nolan crowded the air with a plea to Americans and Filipinos to fight on an beautiful Carole handed him his notes — written by hero Cornell Wilde.

Director Herbert I. Leeds rehearsed the actors — minus explosions — and each time our Carole ducked under the table. It was more fun, for spectators, when the "bombs" went off. For Carole that was just another ducking, or two or three.

It takes a bit of doing to "bomb" a movie set. There's a gentleman with a length of electric wiring off behind the microphone boom. The wire leads around behind the set, beyond that open doorway in the rear, to a keg filled with powder, dust and ground cork. There's a pipe-cannon, off to the side, filled with more dust and discharged by compressed air. There's also a workman with a shovel — full of dust.

For the first bomb, as Nolan read his plea, the workman la table to duck under, shoveled his cloud of dust. For the second, the pipe-cannon popped off. For the third — as the gentleman with the wire touched it to the button — the doorway back there spouted flame, smoke, and flying cork. It also spouted noise — the kind that makes your teeth rattle, the kind that makes you look for

She just stayed under the table.

That was what our Carole did again — along with Nolan and Kosleck. Then they got ready for the next bomb, the big one that would let Kosleck die the hero's death. By this time, Carole, either because she had got smart of the script said so, wasn't ducking any more.

She just stayed under the table.

An Open Letter to Leo McLaughlin From One of the 114,908 Citizens Of Arkansas Who on July 28th Scratched the Name of Leo's Man

Dear Leo:

- We read your full-page ad in the Gazette in which you plead guilty of having bestowed your "kiss of death" on Jack Holt in the Senatorial campaign.
- You attempt to make much ado about the fact that in some elections in the past, your County has cast a majority of votes for John McClellan. You say that he would have welcomed YOUR support this year.
- Leo, you don't get the point.
- If you and your machine were supporting McClellan today, we'd be just as much against him as we are against your man Holt.
- You see, Leo, we don't like your way of doing business. We know from observation in the past that when you maneuver yourself into position to dictate to a candidate or an official you destroy his usefulness as a public servant.
- If your man Holt were elected you would never let him forget that it was you who championed him . . . put him into the Senator's office.
- His obligation would be to you, Leo McLaughlin, and to the other political bosses that you influence or control.
- But there are not enough of you to muster up a majority. You've shot your bolt for Holt. And here's the count:

|                        |         |
|------------------------|---------|
| Against Holt . . . . . | 114,908 |
| For Holt . . . . .     | 54,159  |

Without Hot Springs and other machine-dominated precincts, Holt would have run fourth, for on his own he couldn't even carry the Judicial District where the people knew him as circuit judge and prosecuting attorney . . . nor could he carry the congressional district in which he was born and reared . . . nor his own home county of Boone. Up there the people know him well, Leo — they know that a COMBINATION OF LEO McLAUGHLIN AND JACK HOLT WOULD BE BAD MEDICINE FOR THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

- When Holt lined up with you, Leo, he turned against the people of Arkansas who don't want you running their politics like you run the city of Hot Springs and Holt's.
- No, Leo, you'll never get away with it. Your "kiss of death" for Holt wasn't known to many people who on July 28th voted with you, but they've found you out now, Leo, and now you not only have against you the 114,908 who scratched Holt's name in the first primary but you are also faced with the unwillingness of a lot of people to stay with Holt since they have discovered that he's sharing the political bed with you.
- "No, no, Leo," we said on July 28th.
- There were 114,908 of us then.
- There are more of us today.

With All Sincerity
